“We decided to add some exciting new attractions to the NO COMPROMISE Tour so that people who may have seen the tour come through their area a few times before will want to get out and see it again in 2011,” said Alicia Smales, vice president of marketing for Snap-on Tools. “For those who haven’t had the opportunity to see the NO COMPROMISE Tour up close and personal, there’s no better time than now to see what everyone’s been talking about.”
