Snap-on Must Have Tool: Flex Head Ratchet

KENOSHA, Wis. – September 28, 2010 – To experience one of the smoothest and strongest ratchets on the planet, look no further than Snap-on's 3/8-inch drive flex head ratchet (FLF80).

"If you want power, precision and performance with your ratchet then there is no better choice than the Snap-on FLF80," said Mark Knapp, product manager for Snap-on. "This is truly a 'must have tool' if you want to increase your productivity and efficiency. Since it is manufactured with Dual 80™ Technology, the FLF80 has 25 percent less ratcheting arc than our previous model and requires only 4.5 degrees of swing arc to engage the next gear tooth."

The Snap-on 3/8-inch drive flex head ratchet (FLF80) features and benefits include:

- Strength and durability
 - Up to 300 ft. lbs. (3000 inch lbs.) of ultimate torque
 - Seven teeth in contact with gear to provide strength and durability
- Accessibility
 - Dual 80™ has 25 percent less ratcheting arc than Snap-on's previous design and requires only 4.5 degrees of swing arc to engage the next gear tooth
 - Snap-on's ratchet and socket together have the lowest height of any product on the market so it slips right into those tight spots like no other ratchet
- Low ratcheting torque
- Sealed head helps keep dirt out of the head mechanism

Customers can find out more about Snap-on's 3/8-inch drive flex head ratchet (FLF80) and other Snap-on tools by contacting their participating Snap-on franchisee, visiting www.snapon.com or by calling toll free 877-SNAPON-2 (877-762-7662).
