Jeg Coughlin Wins NHRA Pro Stock Race in Sonoma*

KENOSHA, Wis. – July 19, 2010 – Snap-on drivers picked-up wins 15 and 16 of the season for the Snap-on racing team as Will Power captured the IRL Streets of Toronto race on July 18 while Jeg Coughlin was victorious in the Pro Stock race at the NHRA Nationals in Sonoma, Calif. that same day.

"It was another great weekend for our Snap-on sponsored drivers," said Alicia Smales, vice president of marketing for Snap-on Tools. "Will Power is having a phenomenal season and we want to congratulate him and the Penske Racing team on the win. We also want to congratulate Jeg on his third win of the season. He is also having a strong season and has put himself in great position heading into the 'Countdown to 1'."

Power's victory was his fourth of the season and kept him atop of the season-points standings. His victory was also the 150th career open-wheel racing victory for Penske Racing. Power and Penske Racing will return to the track when they race in Edmonton on July 25.

"We want to congratulate Roger Penske and the entire Penske Racing team on their 150th career open wheel racing victory," said Smales. "Snap-on has been a sponsor of Penske Racing for 29 years and we are honored to be associated with one of the greatest names in racing history."

Coughlin's win at the Infineon Raceway in Sonoma was his third of the season and moved him into third place in the Pro Stock season-points standings. It was Coughlin's 51st career Pro Stock victory and 65th overall. Cruz Pedregon and the Snap-on Funny Car qualified fourth in Sonoma but lost in Elimination Round 2. All of Snap-on's NHRA drivers will be back in action this weekend when they race in the Mile-High NHRA Nationals in Denver July 23-25.

Snap-on's NASCAR drivers will be in Indianapolis this week with the Nationwide race scheduled for July 24 under the lights at Raceway Park while the Sprint Cup will hold its annual Brickyard 400 on July 25 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.
